

Weightless

Nada Surf

Outside just killing time and making noise
And outside the daylight comes, the daylight goes and weightless
Affairs that weigh less always make no stairways just stairs, goes no where Climbing from over stimulated states to hearing
Cold radio and licenses plates but don't dream,
That is a dream it is what it seems
That is a dream it is what it seems
Behind every desire is another one waiting to be liberated when the first ones sated
Water skiing, the waters hot, the waters soft

You act nice, a black birthday card I threw it away
Correct life, is like eating steel or flying a plane
It's too bright, it's too bright
Outside just killing time and making noise
And outside the daylight comes, the daylight goes and weightless
Affairs that weigh less always make no stairways, just stairs, goes no where
Climbing from over stimulated states to hearing
Cold radio and licenses plates but don't dream,
That is a dream it is what it seems
That is a dream it is what it seems
Why do black hats hide behind each others backs all the time?
Behind every desire is another one waiting to be liberated when the first ones sated
