Hitman

Jeremy Messersmith

I need a hitman for my heart
Someone to bump it off a balcony
Nonchalantly leave the scene
I need a hitman for my heartIt doesn't care who might get hurt
Never thinks, only loves recklessly
Slow, but sure, it's killing me
I need a hitman for my heartI have loved you for so long
And I don't know how to stop
Tired of crying, holding on
My heart wants to love you
And I just want it goneI need a hitman for my heart
Someone to gently strangle it at night
Lovingly, by candlelight
I need a hitman for my heartI have loved you for so long
And I don't know how to stop
Tired of crying, holding on
My heart wants to love you
And I just want it goneI need a hitman
For my heartI need a hitman for my heart
Someone professional
Who's fast and clean
So I won't feel anything
I need a hitman for my heart
