Begin Again

Measure

Wake up
To sun
'Cause morning
Does come

If all you can rely on is
The feel of your feet on the wood floor
And all you can depend on is
All movement gives you some direction then

Begin again
You're no calender
You're no concrete plan
Begin again
Don't waste you're time waiting for someone to tell you when

Wake up
To sun
'Cause morning
Still comes

So move around your furniture
Or put it all out on the curb
And drive away to something new Yeah watch the skylight sink behind you and

Begin again
You're no calender
You're no concrete plan
Begin again
Don't waste you're time waiting for someone to tell you when
Begin again
Cause walking out doors only works if you shut them
Begin again
And quit looking backwards you know where you have been
Begin again
You're no calender
You're no concrete plan
Begin again
Don't waste your time

Cause no one's gonna tell you when

Wake up
