

White Sister

Toto

How can you say you love me
When you don't even love yourself
You live your life like a jagged knife
Just waiting on the shelfHow can you live for tomorrow
When you curse the night and day
The minutes pass through the hour glass
As you let them slip away, yeahDo you love me
White sister
Do you love me
When I play your gameDo you love me
White sister
Do you love me
When I call your nameHow can you touch the sorrow
With a leather gloved hand
When you summon the winds of anger
Just as fast as you canYou crucify an orphan
With the rainbow in your eyes
Then you send out invitations
And address them with his criesDo you love me
White sister
Do you love me
When I play your gameDo you love me
White sister
Do you love me
When I call your nameI, I don't even know what's right
I can say that you put up some kind of fight
I've been branded, I've been strandedI'm so thankful for what I've been handed
I wish I could say that you're mine
Such a card gameDo you love me
White sister
Do you love me
When I play your gameDo you love me
White sister
Do you love me
When I call your name
