Woman In You

Ben Harper & The Innocent Criminals

Could've sworn I heard you say amen this morning, showing some kind of sign
That you believe
Did it fall from your tongue without warning or just another trick to fall from Your sleeve
Did I hear you say that you believe in angels? I guess I bring the devil out in
You
But we can both remove our halos 'cause even an angel needs love too

The woman in you is the worry, the worry in me
The woman in you is the worry, the worry in me

Some things never change; Some things never stay the same
But you're so innocent, I'll take all the blame
How I hate to remember for that means the day is past
Sometimes I wonder if I know her or if I really need to ask

The woman in you is the worry, the worry in me
The woman in you is the worry, the worry in me
The woman in you is the worry, the worry in me
Woman...

Half-man walks with no shadow of life he utters his distaste
No apology is expected
Love carved sorry in his face
Love carved sorry in his face

The woman in you is the worry, the worry in me
The woman in you is the worry, the worry in me
The woman in you, in you, is the worry in me
Woman...

---

Lyrics powered by lyrics.tancode.com written by Harper, Ben Lyrics Â© EMI Music Publishing

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/