No don't tell me I'm alright
It seems the more I fall the less I come alive
It's hard to see inside
This life that I have sworn to
But I never wanted this for anyone
And now you've taken my last breath
Sick from the weight left on my chest
No don't tell me I'm alright
It seems the more I fall the less I come alive
It's hard to see inside
Just take a look behind the curtain of demise
I'm an addict force of habit on the double
I spark the static for dramatics call me trouble
You never would believe what I have become
And still I can't believe I'm running
No don't tell me I'm alright
It seems the more I fall the less I come alive
It's hard to see inside
Just take a look behind the curtain of demise
And honestly I'm so far from hope
Without a way to get back to me
Without a way to get back
No don't tell me I'm alright
It seems the more I fall the less I come alive
It's hard to see inside
Just take a look behind the curtain of demise
No don't tell me I'm alright
It seems the more I fall the less I come alive
It's hard to see inside
