

Can't Go Back

Della Mae

In the house with all the paintings on the walls
You will find that you were pacing down the hall
And when the winter comes you'll see where i have been
If you never go, you can't go back againI have given up and I have gone to bed
When the sunset fills the sky with golden rind
I've held on to money I know I should spend
If you never go, you cant go back againIf you never go
If you never goAre you waiting for the words to come out right
But when you move your lips they're silent as the night
Write a letter that you would never send
If you never go, you cant go back again
If you never go
If you never goI would write the script a million more times
I would live my life to read between the lines
But words are just a mockery by the pen
If you never go you cant go back againIf you never go
If you never goTime won't ever wait for you
You know it wont
You know it wont
Time she is always true
If you never goTime won't ever wait for you
You know it wont
You know it wont
Time she is always true
If you never go
If you never go
If you never goIn the house with all the paintings on the walls
You will find that you were pacing down the hall
And when the winter comes you'll see where i have been
If you never go, you cant go back again
