

Tomorrow Never Comes

Juliana Hatfield

You're sailing away to another shore
My heartache today, I can't tell you anymore
And I thought I saw your shadow in the street today
But that was yesterday, oh that was yesterday With a little courage in time
You might forgive me
With a little loving in time
You might forgive me Believe me I know it's been hard for you
And there's never an easy way to let it go
And I dreamt that you were telling me you dreamt of me
But now I'm waking up, I think I'm waking up With a little courage in time
You might forgive me
With a little loving in time
You might forgive me And I thought I saw your jacket in my room today
But that was yesterday, oh was that yesterday? With a little courage in time
You might forgive me
With a little loving in time
You might forgive me With a little courage in time
You might forgive me
With a little loving in time
