If You Ever Leave Me

Barbra Streisand

When I fall you're my place to land
I lose my touch, you're my hands, the one I hold on to
If you run out of reasons to try
A love enough for both you and I, I'll be the one you can run to
I'd rather go through any pain love puts us through
Than to spend one day without you by my side
If you ever leave me, will you take me with you?
If you're ever lonely, I wanna be lonely too
My home's beside you, no matter where you may go
My love's inside you, even more than you know
In a world of anger and lies, I find peace in your eyes
A flame in the darkness
Ooh and through all space and time, 'til every star refuses to shine
You know where my heart is
I'd rather go through any pain love puts us through
Than to spend one day without you by my side

If you ever leave me, will you take me with you?
If you're ever lonely, I wanna be lonely too, oh
My home's beside you, no matter where you may go
(Where you may go)
My love's inside you, even more than you know
And I can't remember life without you, the way it used to be
Feels like a million years away
But hold me till the angels sing, tell me every little thing
Promise me forever, from this day
If you ever leave me, will you take me with you?
If you're ever lonely, I wanna be lonely too
My home's beside you, no matter where you may go
(Where you may go)
My love's inside you, even more than you know
Even more than you know, even more than you know
Even more than you know, even more than you know
