

Trapped in Ire

Synchrony

Something inside has triggered my darkness the line is crossed I am on the verge now to explode I'm breathing in just to scream it out the ire is filling me up You test your luck with every single word you say Deep inside I am never at ease I am never at ease and my hands are tied when you're failing to see the demon lurking in me We're in the calm before the storm I can feel how it's rushing through my veins the clock is ticking, I'm only seconds away... seconds away to explode I'm breathing in just to scream it out the ire is filling me up Deep inside I am never at ease I am never at ease and my
hands are tied when you're failing to see the demon lurking in me This is the point of no return it dwells in me but you won't learn it's like you strive to make it worse cause I am just about to burst About to burst Deep inside I am never at ease I am never at ease and my hands are tied when you're failing to see the demon lurking in me You hope to clean the slate but it is far too late cause I can't hold it back this time You hope to clean the slate
but it is far too late
cause I can't hold it back this time cause I can't hold it back this time
