World To Wait

Stavesacre

window gazing, outside in.
at some elusive american myth i know you want to believe they're at peace safe from life's uncertainties but would they agree?chorus: take your time, make your mind up and tell the world to wait take your time, live your life you're the one that has to live it anywayafter the sound, the fury, the noise has stifled the simplest of joys the clock keeps spinning on and on and once it's gone, the time is gone. the time is gone...(middle) all you've built and done is just a fraction of the you we love...

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/