The Suffering

Ignite

We've seen it all, but haven't learned a thing
Decades go on with unrelenting suffering
A vicious scar, without a memory
The same fight still going on and on and onAre we broken with this hatred inside?
Time is standing still as the years pass us by
Divided walls stand with no end in sight
And no one wants to make the change
So the world keeps suffering
The world keeps sufferingOur senses gone, where is the common dream?
What have we learned since 1963?
The vicious scars of colors we all bleed
The same fight still going on and on and onAre we broken with this hatred inside?
Time is standing still as the years pass us by
Divided walls stand with no end in sight
And no one wants to make the change
So the world keeps suffering
The world keeps sufferingYou're never on the wrong side
Always on the right side
It all looks the same, forever
Want to point the blame
They always want to save face
And they won't back down
No, they won't back down
