Little giants

Michael Patrick Kelly

Walking home from the school that she hates
Her life is so low and she swears that someday she'll run away
Oh she'll run awayAt first that she saw was the crowd on the bridge
Followed her right to the boy on the ledge
What to say?
Oh what to saySHe'll never know why she did what she did
What made her give him that life saving kissThe whole world is resting upon the shoulders of
Little little little little giants
The whole world is resting upon the shoulders of
Little little little little giants
Ohohohohoho...
Little little giantsSix years old no one else was around
He didn't think twice the baby would drown
So he was brave
It was the only wayHe'll never know why he did what he did
And cried as they gave her the life saving kissThe whole world is resting upon the shoulders of
Little little little little giants
The whole world is resting upon the shoulders of
Little little little little giants
Ohohohohoho...
Little little giantsThe boy who rescued his family from flames
Died in the fire that's how he earned his wings
The 911 call from the girl, only four
To come help her daddy who lay on the floorLove isn't measured by how big you are Love can be large in the tiniest heartsThe whole world is resting upon the shoulders of
Little little little little giants
The whole world is resting upon the shoulders of
Little little little little giants
Ohohohohoho...
Little little giants
