

Sunburn

Ed Sheeran

You're not her
Though I try to see you differently
I tow the line
You see, I'm searching for what used to be mine
I saw your eyes
And then I saw her staring back at me
And I will try to find another one
Who suited me as well as her I moved far away from you
And I want to see you here beside me, dear
But things aren't clear
When we never even tried
We never even talked
We never even thought in the long run
Whenever it was painful
Whenever I was away
I'd miss you
I miss you She was mine
I was hers
And all that's in between
If she would cry
I would shelter her
And keep her from the darkness that will be I moved far away from you
And I want to see you here beside me, dear
But things aren't clear
We never even tried
We never even talked
We never even thought in the long run
Whenever it was painful
Whenever I was away
I'd miss you
And I miss you Don't drop me in
It's not my turn
If you cut deep
Then I might learn
You scarred and left me
Like a sunburn Don't drop me in
It's not my turn
If you cut deep
Then I might learn

You scar and leave me
Like a sunburn We never even tried
We never even talked
We never even thought in the long run
Whenever it was painful
Whenever I was away
I'd miss you
And I miss you
