

Half the Way There

The Three O'Clock

Well it used to be you're crying all the time
And there seemed to be no rest or hope or piece of mind

Now you're moving on no time to spare
Loves the direction and your
Half the way there

Well there was a time when flowers would not grow
and you seemed to be the only one to ever know

Now you're moving on no time to spare
Loves the direction and your
Half the way there, Half the way there

You're half the way
You're half the way there

You're half the way
You're half the way there

You're half the way
You're half the way there

Well there was a time when flowers would not grow
and you seemed to be the only one to ever know

Now you're moving on no time to spare
Loves the direction and your
Half the way there, Half the way there

Now you're moving on no time to spare
Loves the direction and your, your, your
Half the way there
Half the way there
Half the way there
Half the way there

Lyrics submitted by Tony Traverso.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnlyrics.com/>