He Said

The Hippos

When I was just a young boy
I loved to play with my toys
And sit around and watch TV
Sometimes we'd go to the beach

I loved to go to the beach
Until an old man came to me
I said hey mister, why do you look so blue
He said it's nothing you just

Look like someone I once new
I said oh really as I looked into his eyes
Right then and there I knew this man would tell no lies
He said

I am a man of glory, I've got a million stories
If you would just listen to me
I've sailed across this ocean, given so much devotion
But just one thing has stayed with me, come here and see

We'd find a park with flowers
We'd sit and talk for hours
He taught me ancient history
He said

I used to be a great man
I traveled across this great land
Until an old man came to me
And said

I am a man of glory, I've got a million stories
If you would just listen to me
I've been around the world
Been with all kinds of girls

But just one thing has stayed with me, come here and see
But now I am much older
My life has grown much colder
I only care about one thing

How can I make more money
Life's empty without money
And then a voice spoke out to me
And said

I am a man of glory, I've got a million stories
If you would just listen to me
I used to be a rich man
Money can ruin a good man

Just look what it has done to me
No I'm, I'm not the same as I used to be
