

Another Man's Shoes

Monster Truck

So strange
I think of things and suddenly they're real
Like i'm living a dream, walking around in a fog
How can a man know when he is across the line when he's not himself I'm never in the same place
I don't know how far i can go
Things always seem to change
I feel I got nothing to lose
In the soles of another man's shoes So strange never felt more alone in a room full of friends
It's either this or stand in a room full of strangers
Sound cuts right through the wall again
And rips my mind
I'm never in the same place
I don't know how far i can go
Things always seem to change
I feel I got nothing to lose
In the soles of another man's shoes
