Let It Go

Lacey

'Cause I know you better than I think you know yourself,
If what you did was to surprise me,
Then anything you did was something else.Now your old habits die hard, keep tearing yourself away.
But you can hear it in my heartbeat,
I'm giving myself away.I've let it go because I've been holding on too tight.
And it's time that I should stop believing.I know you less than I would like to think I do,
But it won't take much to show you,
Time is just a trick I play on you.Now you're claiming to try hard to say things a different way,
But I can hear it in your heartbeat,
You're giving yourself away.I've let it go because I've been holding on too tight.
And it's time that I should stop believing.
And break form today, because today brings tomorrow.Now you're claiming to try hard to say things a different way,
But I can hear it in your heartbeat,
You're giving yourself away.
Now you're claiming to try hard to say things a different way,
You can hear it in my heartbeat,
I'm giving myself away.I've let it go because I've been holding on too tight.
And it's time that I should stop believing.
And break form today, because today brings tomorrow.I've let it go because today brings tomorrow.

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/