How To Survive A Broken Heart

Ben Lee

I should let this go but I just can't
And now it's just a lesson I can't grasp
So what's really the best that I could do
To hope to see you every year or twoAnd the things you said
Do they still make sense
Could you mean them now
Did you even mean them then
I could torture myself insane and tense
But I don't have the strengthI'm crushed in pain you drifted through my life
But even looking back I know it's right
I gave you my heart scared complete and whole
When all you ever asked for was my soulAnd there's nothing left
But a song or two
That mean not a thing
If I can't play them for you
If I could hear your voice just one more time
Maybe I'd be fine
