Melior

I Killed the Prom Queen

I kept waiting for the sun to rise
With the hope that nothing had changed through the night
And I'm still waiting for the tide to die
To be swept away and out of sightAm I too far gone now
Too far to turn this aroundMy heart sways like the seasons change
So I lock it up and sleep for days
Until you whisper open your eyes
And take a deep breathe, it'll be alrightYou've been there from the beginning
And I know you'll see this through
See this throughAm I too far gone now
Too far to turn this aroundI kept waiting for the sun to rise
With the hope that nothing had changed through the night
And I'm still waiting for the tide to die
To be swept away and out of sightWill I ever find my way?

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/