Song About an Angel

Sunny Day Real Estate

So I say still away sleep close my eyes
Image of your face traced in white sand
Underneath, undefined I lay down
Arms outstretched I embrace the fall
And all the time I tried
To let you know discomfort comes clearlySometimes you see right through me
Words, words you're married to your
You're married to your, you're married to your pain
Although you hit me hard I come back
The Earth cries ease the pain on the insideRun behind which one will I face?
Run behind which one will IThin comfort in what I say
My back is turned a halo my soul for a while
And all the time I tried to let you know
Discomfort comes clearly, when I showSometimes you see right through me
Words, words you're married to your
You're married to your, you're married to your pain
Although you hit me hard I come back
The Earth cries ease the pain on the insideRun behind which one will I face?
Run behind which one will I
