How Many Times

Kate Ryan

How many times? How many times?
How many times is enough?How many times do I have to rise and fall?
How many times?
How many times hit my head against the wall?I'm breaking the border of myself
It's time that I learned from
The mistakes that has made
This never ending circle of just heartachesNow is the time
To get it together and shine
Try to figure out of
Who I am and what I wantHow many times do I have to rise and fall?
Once again defeated
How many times hit my head against the wall?
Till I find the secretSo many nights that I cried a thousand tears
For the one who turned out not to be the one
How many times is enough?So I'm alone here once again
Now I can hardly feel the pain anymore
I'm broken but not scattered into piecesThis life is mine
Just have to stand up and fight
Try to figure out of
Who I am and what I wantHow many times do I have to rise and fall?
Once again defeated
How many times hit my head against the wall?
Till I find the secretSo many nights that I cried a thousand tears
For the one who turned out not to be the one
How many times is enough?
How many times is enough?How many times? How many times?
How many times is enough?
How many times? How many times?
How many times is enough?How many times do I have to rise and fall?
Once again defeated
How many times hit my head against the wall?
Till I find the secretSo many nights that I cried a thousand tears
For the one who turned out not to be the one
How many times is enough?
How many times is enough?

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/