

Blind Side

Susan Ashton

I said I'd never let that hungry wolf come
Blow this house down
But I left myself unguarded
I said I'd never let the tempter of my heart
Come back around
But now look at what I've startedI've unlocked a box of confusion
I've lost all my reasonClear to the left, clear to the right
Without a sound it came around
Hit me on the blind side
Look to the front, look to the back
Down for the count, I'll tell you how
Hit me on the blind sideAnd though I could see
The truth staring right at me
Well, I did not ready myself
For the blind side, hey, yeah, yeahSo I went walking through
The garden of temptation unaware
And I tasted what I wanted
Not looking for the subtle warnings
That might be hidden there
And I barreled through undauntedOh, I was soon deuced by a craving
That left me defenselessClear to the left, clear to the right
Without a sound it came around
Hit me on the blind side
Look to the front, look to the back
Down for the count, I'll tell you how
Hit me on the blind sideAnd though I could see
The truth staring right at me
Well, I did not ready myself
For the blind sideOh, not going the whole way
A little bit here, a little more there
I was short on self denialClear to the left, clear to the right
Without a sound it came around
Hit me on the blind side
Look to the front, look to the back
Down for the count, I'll tell you how
Hit me on the blind sideAnd though I could see
The truth staring right at me
Well, I did not ready myself
For the blind sideGoing down

Going down
Going down
Going down on the blind sideI'm going down
I'm going down
I'm going down on the blind sideI'm going down
I'm going down
I'm going down on the blind sideI'm going down
I'm going down
I'm going down on the blind sideI'm going down
I'm going down
I'm going down on the blind sideI'm going down
I'm going down
I'm going down on the blind sideI'm going down
I'm going down
I'm going down on the blind side
