

Cassadee Pope

Seven years old, everything was right
 A table for four on a Friday night
 Didn't see any signs of a dead end road
 By the time I was ten everything was changing Fell asleep every night praying
 Didn't know which way to goMomma did her best to hide her anger
 And I did my best to try and save herI was a little too young and a little too dumb to ever think the day would come
 When dad would drive away and take his love with him
 So I grew up fast in a whole new world
 Waved goodbye to that little girl
 I can see her now, innocent and seven
 I wish I had never turned elevenWe moved into a smaller house
 How mama did it, oh I don't know how Never went to bed without eating
 At thirteen I finally realized what it means to get on with your life
 Well daddy sure did and he made it look easyMama did her best to hide the struggle
 And I did my best to stay out of troubleI was a little too young and a little too dumb to ever think the day would
 come
 When dad would drive away and take his love with him
 So I grew up fast in a whole new world
 Waved goodbye to that little girl
 I can see her now, innocent and seven
 I wish I had never turned elevenI wish that I could turn back time and tell myself it'll be alright, you're never gonna lose the light in your eyes.I was a little too young and a little too dumb to ever think the day would come
 So I grew up fast in a whole new world
 Waved goodbye to that little girl
 I can see her now, innocent and seven
 I wish I had never turned elevenI wish I had never turned eleven.
