What a strange thing to say
As you pass me
On your way out
And all the things
I had in mind for you and meWell, say something new Well, say something new
Something newWhat a strange thing to do
As you passed me
On your way out, your way out
And all the things
I had in mind for you and meWell, say something new
Well, something new
Something newBut something you do
But something you do
Something you doWell, say something new
Well, something new
Something newBut something you do
But something you do
Something you doSay something new Say something new
About you, about you, about you
