

Damage Done

Walls of Jericho

It doesn't take much to shut it down
When you're armed to the teeth with a broken mouth
 I will refuse to let you see this through
Your self-entitlement weighs heavy on another's head
 Passing blame is the way they made you
 Excuse lost no one cares to save you
 Now you feel the damage done
 Who's to blame?
 Were all guilty and insane
 Kill pain
The best we cam with the weight of the world
 Who's to blame?
 Are you willing to change?
 Despite pain?
It's never easy when the way of the world is inhumane
 The damage. The damage done
 The forgotten one
It doesn't take much to perpetuate ignorance
 The thought of being stuck
 Makes you want to self-destruct
 Self-entitlement
 Another product of your environment
Passing blame is they way they made you
 Excuse lost no one cares to save you
Now you feel the damage done. The damage done.
 The forgotten one. The Damage.
 Introspective. Depth perception.
 True perspective is neglected.
