Opinion (feat. Tom Morello)

Device

Right before your eyes witness the travesty
The perpetrators of the crime are simply walking away
How the defenders of justice keep falling,
And again, and again, and again, and again you knowThat no one can deny
The horrors of our age
The puppets' intricate lies will never wash them away
They can't distract us from from all that's appalling
Again, and again, and again, and againAre you blind? are you cold? how can you sayYou don't have an opinion
And that you'll give me a reason
That there is nothing left worth believing
In this world that we're living in(Oh) well I have an opinion
Oh that there is always a reason
And their lies aren't worth believing
We have to show we're not giving in (no)The wicked can't disguise their motives anyway
It's the ultimate crime when we look the other way
And sit compliant while the devils keep stalling
Again, and again, and again, and againYou cannot justify your perfect apathy
Cast aside your indifference
Throw it away and hear the voices of innocents calling
Again, and again, and again, and againAre you blind? don't you know? how can you sayYou don't have an opinion
And that you'll give me a reason
That there is nothing left worth believing
In this world that we're living in
(Oh) well I have an opinion
Oh that there is always a reason
And their lies aren't worth believing
We have to show we're not giving in (no)Oh you've got to fight for it
Don't let the villainous ones decide
How we define ourselves
And you profess to know
That ignorance is bliss
Now do you want to let them decide
Whether we're alive or deadYou don't have an opinion
And that you'll give me a reason
That there is nothing left worth believing
In this world that we're living in
(Oh) well I have an opinion
Oh that there is always a reason

And their lies aren't worth believing
We have to show we're not giving in (no)You don't have an opinion
And that you'll give me a reason
That there is nothing left worth believing
In this world that we're living in
(Oh) well I have an opinion
Oh that there is always a reason
And their lies aren't worth believing
We have to show we're not giving in (no)
