

Machine

Josh Groban

Rising above tension below
Learn from the in-between
Blinded by trust, asleep to the truthAwakened by disbelief
Somewhere I found strength in my soul
Still you refuse to seeAre you sure I'm not all right?
'Cause lately I've been feeling fine
Every lifeline leads its own way to the heavens
But I have seen you run in circles, unforgivenIs there anything in this world
That can make you stop?
Oh, you're a machineA world of your own, hollow inside
Careful when worlds collide
I'm filling my life with all it can hold
Carry it on with prideAre you sure I am not all right?
'Cause lately I've been feeling fine
Every lifeline leads its own way to the heavens
But I have seen you run in circles, unforgivenIs there anything in this world
That can make you stop?
Oh, you're a machineThe sun's still above
All the rain that's coming down
And I can feel the clouds drifting away
And now the sky is open wideTurn the light on
And you will see things so much clearer
Oh, but there's no heart
Oh, there's no heartAnd I've spent all this time feeling
Something you can't feel at all
You're a machine
Oh, you're a machine
