Disaster Strikes

Simon Wilcox

I loved you, I did
You were dangerously pretty
You were just another face in the city.
But you loved me, you did
You were dangerously pretty
You were just another face in the city.

Now disaster can always strike
I see you standin' in the cold light
I'm lookin' at you alright,
Let's call it a night.

I lost you, I did
But the fates took no pity
I was just another face in the city
And I missed you, I did,
My enemies were laughing at me

Now disaster can always strike
I see you standin' in the cold light
I'm lookin' at you alright,
Let's call it a night.

Ah, but lightning can always strike.
I see you standin' in the cold light
You're lookin' at me alright,
Let's call it a night.

I lost you, I did
And I missed you, I did.
