Save Myself

ZOEgirl

Stop, take a minute, take a breath
From the pressure, from the need to know why
What makes you alive
Why do we rely on ourselves?
Putting God up on a shelf
We depend on what's left in our handsIt feels right and we believe there won't be a suddenly
But we keep running faster
Isn't this so nice to think if we lived in harmony
There'd be a happy ever afterIt doesn't matter if I
Have faith to move a mountain
Drink the ocean dry
Baby, I could never save myselfIt doesn't matter if I
Can reach into the deepest
Corners of my mind
Baby, I could never save myselfStop, we put God in a box
Spend our time watching the clock while we wait
For a release that will take us away
We come down with a crash
But do we have another chance to go back?
Is that gonna make it okay?Hold your breath and you will see
In the end you'll have to breathe but we keep running faster
Fast we forget reality if you fall you're gonna bleed
There is no happy ever afterIt doesn't matter If I
Have faith to move a mountain
Drink the ocean dry
Baby, I could never save myselfIt doesn't matter if I
Can reach into the deepest
Corners of my mind
Baby, I could never save myselfFalling out under sorrow
Glimpses of the past of what I used to think
And who I used to be
I'm realizing all this frailty that I hide in meIt doesn't matter
If I defy the laws of gravity, the mystery
I could neva save myself
It doesn't matter
If I started over in my own world
I could neva save myselfIt doesn't matter if I, if I, if IIt doesn't matter
If I have faith to move a mountain
Drink the ocean dry

Baby, I could never save myselfIt doesn't matter if I
Can reach into the deepest
Corners of my mind
Baby, I could never save myselfIt doesn't matter If I
Have faith to move a mountain
Drink the ocean dry
Baby, I could never save myselfIt doesn't matter if I
Can reach into the deepest
Corners of my mind
Baby, I could never save myselfSave myself
Save myself
Save myself
Save myself
