

Half-Light

Vertical Horizon

I think I gave away the best of me
Now everything that's left is make believe,
Yeah have a look around there's nothing here
I'm just about to disappearTake a breath before we touch
I wouldn't blame you if it's just to much
I've heard it all before it's nothing new
Go on I'll just be seeing you is it you
I can just barely see youHalf-light
I keep fading into the half-light
I know I've been here before and survived
But if you could keep me close in sight
In sightHalfway
Closer still, but I'm still halfway
I'll take your hand if you think it's okay
'cause I don't want to lose what's right
This time
To half-light
To half-lightI guess it's no surprise I'm damaged goods
The fractures all remain misunderstood
I'm waiting for the truth to set me free
But every time it lies to meTake it back 'till it's an epitaph
A thousand words become a photograph
I can't have everything 'till nothing's leftIf something's not broken yet
I try again and again
'Till nothing's leftHalf-light
I keep fading into the half-light
I know I've been here before and survived
But if you could keep me close in sight
In sightHalfway
Closer still, but I'm still halfway
I'll take your hand if you think it's okay
'cause I don't want to lose what's right
This time
To half-light
To half-light
Half-light, half-lightEach complication is an all-time low
I'm sort of ready if you're ready
Let me know
There's something chemical

In us and it's Just like lightningHalf-light
I keep fading into the half-light
I know I've been here before and survived
But if you could keep me close in sight
In sightHalfway
Closer still but I'm still halfway
I'll take your hand if you think it's okay
'cause I don't want to lose what's right
This time
To half-light
To half-light
To half-light
To half-light
To half-light
