

Not Your Lover

Hermitage Green

Every time I look up you're watching me
Every time I look up you're watching me

Whispers of a longing lies beneathAfter the doors close you'll go home with someone new
And wonder why they left instead of just holding youI am not your lover

I am just your friend

And you, and you must find another
'Cause I can't go through this again

Ah, when you wake in the morning you'll know, you know this ain't no way to go

Ah, when you wake in the morning you'll know, you know this ain't no way to goI wonder if you thought of me today

Living an illusion you call my name

Oh, It's easy for you to forget me and walk away

Move on with your life and then say what I knew you'd sayI am not your lover
I am just your friend

And you, and you must find another
'Cause I can't go through this again

Ah, when you wake in the morning you'll know, you know this ain't no way to go

Ah, when you wake in the morning you'll know, you now this ain't no way to goAll the tears that we shed,
It's better left unsaid

Hoping you find your way home
All the tears that we shed,

It's better left unsaid

Hoping you find your way home
Hoping you find your way home

Hoping you find your way

I am not your lover

I am just your friend

And you, and you must find another
'Cause I can't go through this again

Ah, when you wake in the morning you'll know, you know this ain't no way to-

Ah, when you wake in the morning you'll know, you know this ain't no way to go.

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlrics.com/>