The Distance to the Sun

Spock's Beard

There is no peace, here in my mind
There's no way to see, we're all born blind
To some place, some time
When we could feel like, we're joined inside
We can't always see it with our eyesBut there is a world, apart from what we know
There is a time the eyes will never show
We can be as one and be farther than the distance to the sun
To the sun, the distance to the sunThere is no use, you'll never win, they'll only kick you back again
Back where you've been and you're never satisfied
Your wants just change
You've been playing an unwinnable gameBut there is a world, apart from what we know
There is a place the eyes will never show
We can be as one and be farther than the distance to the sun
To the sunHalf the time we're gone, we don't know why
Half of us are crying to the sky
Once we're there, we'll wonder why it took so long
Once we're there, we'll know what we becameThere is a world, apart from what we know
There is a place the eyes will never show
We can be as one and be farther than the distance to the sun
To the sun, the distance to the sunTo the sun, the distance to the sun
To the sun, the distance to the sun
To the sun, to the sun
The distance to the sun

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/