

Alternate Ending

Woods of Ypres

In the darkness, under the stars, with enough warning,
To pull off to the side, in timeIn the end, was there anyone to share in your joy?
I woke up one day...and realized it was already overBack on the highway, under the moon, my final moments,
Still wondering about you...In the end, was there anyone to share in your joy?
I woke up for years without you, to realize it was already over, for meNow making amendments... to the story...
Changing the ending, as I would like it to beWe were together, in a memory and we live forever, in finalityHolding on... to a dream...
When the end... couldn't come slow enough for me.Holding on...
