

Georgia Woods

Keith Urban

What kind of spell is this that you've cast on me with your kiss
It's like I've lost all control of my senses
It's just not like me to give in so easily
And dropping my thought, and I'm leaving my heart defenseless
Oh, but I'm feeling good
Here beneath the pines of the Georgia woods
And what a surprise, here by side
It's more than a full moonshine and it's driving me crazy
I waited so long for something this strong
And now I gotta be falling 'cause I'm already calling you, baby
There's nobody here to see the sparks between you and me
We better be careful, my love or the woods will be burning
Or maybe we just give in, throwing caution to the wind
It's funny how we ain't got any say in the matter

What a surprise, here by side
It's more than a full moonshine and it's driving me crazy
I waited so long for something this strong
And now I gotta be falling 'cause I'm already calling you, baby, yeah
Yeah, I waited so long for something this strong
And I know I'm falling 'cause I'm already calling you, oh
Oh, what a surprise, here by your side
It's more than a full moonshine and it's driving us both crazy
I waited so long for something this strong
Now we know I'm falling 'cause I'm already calling you
Yeah, oh, calling you, baby
Yeah, uh, huh
