

Don't Wanna Cry Anymore

Jenna Drey

Don't wanna cry anymore
Cry anymore
Don't wanna cry anymore
Cry anymore

The pressure's building up
And slowly driving me insane
The walls are closing in
And sucking life right outta me

Life is spinning
And I'm living in a hurricane
Like a dream and there's
No way to ever wake up

Sometimes I wish I could disappear
I'd rather be anywhere but here

Should I turn around
Should I walk away
Will I ever see a brighter day
Will I ever find a better way
I don't wanna cry anymore, die anymore

Holding on to what's left of me
To the child inside I used to be
When my hopes and dreams were everything
I don't wanna cry anymore, die anymore

This illusion that is Everywhere I seem to turn
Up and down and down is right beside
And left of me

Guess there must've been
A lesson that I never learned
My compass is pointing
To the opposite direction

Sometimes I wish I could disappear

No I don't know which way is outta here

Should I turn around

Should I walk away

Will I ever see a brighter day

Will I ever find a better way

I don't wanna cry anymore, die anymore

Holding on to what's left of me

To the child inside I used to be

When my hopes and dreams were everything

I don't wanna cry anymore, die anymore (x2)

Lyrics submitted by GiÃ,rgÃ,s Diamantidis.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>