

All That Matters

Estelle

If I could picture a single moment
To tell you how I feel right into the blue
Then I would tell the time my heart felt
And I would probably say that it was good to do
The time was nice, but it was farsement
You sent me flying and then we both grew
The time became the enemy of romance
I'm holding on to the next world And if the sun should go away from here
It doesn't matter, 'cause baby you're shine
And if the clothes keep you away from come near
It doesn't matter, cause baby you're mine That's all that matters, that matters, that matters
'Cause baby you're already mine
That's all that matters, that matters, that matters
No one can take away what's yours and mine It doesn't link to our tipe of story
I call it the days of white lights and angels I start with a guy
So beautiness, be our glamorous and glory
So beat it to do so easy to be connected inside
I get your verse, this things upon right now
It's calling cool to give your all of nothing to Someone to makes love in this moments
Keep rolling on into this world, uhhh And if the sun should go away from here
It doesn't matter, 'cause baby you're shine
And if the clothes keep you away from come near
It doesn't matter, cause baby you're mine That's all that matters, that matters, that matters
'Cause baby you're already mine
That's all that matters, that matters, that matters
No one can take away what's yours and mine Who makes lovers like this anymore?
It's to enjoy in your eyes to allowing my love
Won't let you go... Hold us together
The story of ender is gold and soul If the sun should go away from here
It doesn't matter, 'cause baby you're shine
And if the clothes keep you away from come near
It doesn't matter, cause baby you're mine That's all that matters, that matters, that matters
'Cause baby you're already mine
That's all that matters, that matters, that matters
No one can take away what's yours and mine And now we sit, I wonder where I went
All the moments I miss, I'm glad I didn't miss you
