

Gazing at the Moonlight

Hopsin

(Chorus)

Gazing at the moonlight
Satan comes close to me
He says you can have everything
If you leave your soul with me
oh na na na
Gazing at the moonlight
the devil comes close to me
my mama told me never to talk to strangers.

Its really hard to focus living in this world of sin but balled up in the corner is what i wanna curl up in some pearls a benz money to spend girl whos a ten fuck it baby I promise I'll never hurt you again people phinin be the best not the best they can be i use to be the same way guess thats what satans made of me it something like slavery the way that lucifer has us all this glamorous shit we like he uses to trap us then he smiles as we run loose on this campus dancing circles around satan and you think its fabulous the glamorous pay the price its called life for satan but in the mean time shit its all right most people think the message i send you is stupid and yall are gonna ignore and just continue to do it but as i made an attmpt to convince you the shits cool the rest of the destiny is within you.

(Chorus)

Gazing at the moonlight
Satan comes close to me
He says you can have everything
If you leave your soul with me
oh na na na
Gazing at the moonlight
the devil comes close to me
my mama told me never to talk to strangers

Id rather go broke then go and give my soul away my quarters they couldnt add up to satans protege hes telln me to jump but im saying I dont know pay they say your souls not owned until its in blood on the page and he dont act on you to do his dirt hes the master of the ceremonies and thats why music works all it takes is one rapper to make it big then through him satan have the nation creating sin then he wins and repeats the cycle over again for many generations till time is closer to end and all those times you said fuck it youll be hit with the day of the judgement and burned as the devils naked puppet take it in soft flows or take it as gospel shit im just speaking it true whether i make it or not yo you dont have to love just dont ever hate just no with satan

here this will never be a better place

(Chorus)

Gazing at the moonlight

Satan comes close to me

He says you can have everything

If you leave your soul with me

oh na na na

Gazing at the moonlight

the devil comes close to me

my mama told me never to talk to strangers

so many time that ive fell in this trap im tellin'm facts he makes it sound like hell is a bath till this day i still get influenced and even though i know im sinnin' im willing to do it my ass aint even improving cause it so hard to stop whats been taught for so many years if i think about it to much ill just be rolling in tears sometimes i just think why am i here why do i feel like ill be running in fear if ever the end is near its like shit is so much in everyones daily habits that we dont even know we do it whenever it happens then it settles in like i should of never did that shit i want to enter the gate perfect insted of half this if you had to turn in the test today you think you would pass it or would you rest in flame who knows theres only one way to find out and if you die now theres no turning back this is your life pal.

(Chorus)

Gazing at the moonlight

Satan comes close to me

He says you can have everything

If you leave your soul with me

oh na na na

Gazing at the moonlight

the devil comes close to me

my mama told me never to talk to strangers.

Lyrics submitted by Shane.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>