

These Broken Hands of Mine

Joe Brooks

Take a breath
I close my eyes
I am lost, but try to find
What it is in this life
That gives me strength enough to fight
For something more Well God knows my feet are aching
And I've got mountains ahead to climb One way at a time
I will try
To let these broken hands of mine
Give me strength, be my light
One way at a time, these walls will fall
And fill our empty souls
Give me strength, help me guide these broken hands of mine They sky is grey
It clouds your world
Clear the air child, break the mold
Find a place in your heart
To build a shelter from this
Cold and winding road Well God knows your barely standing
But you've got to carry this heavy load
One way at a time, I'll try
To let these broken hands of mine
Give me strength, be my light
One way at a time
The peace will grow
And fill our empty souls
Give me strength, help me guide
These broken hands of mine
Oh these broken hands of mine What If there's more?
What If there's More?
What If There's More Than this?
What if there's more out there? Yeah..
One way at a time,
i will try to let these broken hands of mine
Give me strength, be my light.
One Way at a time, The peace will grow
And fill our empty souls
Give me strength, help me guide
These broken hands of mine.

These broken hands of mine.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnyrics.com/>