

Early Morning Jet

Early Morning Jet ©Sarah Chesler
Today I will be leaving and tomorrow will be hard
Got to tell you I'm so happy although we're so far apart
Cause I'd rather have the memories of kissing in the dark
Than always keep on wondering I wonder where you are//I'll take the early morning jet
I'll take the early morning jet
I'll take the early morning jet
Get ready, set go//I can't tell you where I'm going cause I don't know where I've been But one thing that's for sure now it's with you I want to be Off course I understand you if your patience running thin
And though I can't find a way now
I know I know I know I will//I'll take the early morning jet....//I can't believe how many years have past from when we first began To play this game of hide and seek there's no place left to run//Time flies by so quickly or at least that's what they say
Every day that I am missing you feels longer than the next
When I close my eyes I feel your touch and know that you are there
I can't wait until I'm in your arms
My heart's already there//I'll take the early morning jet...// woo-o-o.....//I can't believe how many years have past from when we first began To play this game of hide and seek There's no place left to run//
