

Gasp^{ing} For Air

Autopsy

Tightening grip around the neck
Gasping for air that isn't there
Feeling life's source draining away
Slowly slipping to God you pray Eyes popping out, as the face turns blue
Crushed windpipe, swallowing in blood
Hopeless thoughts, loss of breath
Loss of life, strangled to death Digging the grave in which you will lie
Buried head deep and left to die
Body paralyzed beneath the sand
Tide comes in... Asphyxiation Watrlogged corpse, Back from the dead
Rips the eyeballs from his head
Snapping neck, blood pours down
Decapitated body rotting away
