

A New Momentum

Chevelle

Should we ignore?
This was too intense, too awful
Please stand still to seize them all
His monetary gain equals his monetary mind And even if the saints gave their all
Like lions in the face of a growing crowd
Too little and too late on the day when all will fall So drawing into one another
Keeps momentum driving forward like a torching sun Could sleep forever in spite of this look, a look so scared
Sitting here with nothing new to add
And crying out you never seemed forced
It's just the kind of fuel that I need to feel reborn Feeding off the chase right before
Is like biting into ankles, pulling round
To finish one more phase, get the key when all will fall So drawing into one another
Keeps momentum driving forward like a torching Learn to choose to breathe then stitch your arm to me
Learn to choose to breathe then stitch your arm Drawing into one another
Keeps momentum driving forward like a torching sun
So drawing into one another
Keeps momentum driving forward like a torching sun

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>