

Only This Moment Is Mine

Daniel O'Donnell

Only This Moment Is Mine
There're so many things we'll change
If we lived our lives again
So many things we would and we would not do
All the past mistakes we've made
And the price that we have paid
Oh how we liveth, we could start anew
But there is no going back
And we can't change the past
Or turned back the hands of time
Yesterday is history, tomorrow is a mystery
And I know that only this moment is mine
There are things we never tried
And tears we never cried
If we have know the hell was far too steep
We'd have never tumbled down
Or fallen in and drowned
If we've known the river was so deep
But there is no going back
And we can't change the past
Or turned back the hands of time
Yesterday is history, tomorrow is a mystery
And I know that only this moment is mine-- Instrumental Interlude --
So it's the best that we forget
The things we now regret
For we cannot go back and change the past
Never use those old mistakes
A better life to make
And tomorrow we may find that we win at last
But there is no going back
And we can't change the past
Or turned back the hands of time
Yesterday is history, tomorrow is a mystery
And I know that only this moment is mine
Yesterday is history, tomorrow is a mystery
And I know that only this moment is mine
