Don Walser

Last night I saw a host of angels and they were all singing different songs and it sounded like a lot of lawnmowers mowing down my lawn and up above kerjillions of stars spangled all over the sk
They were spirals turning turning in the deep blue night. and suddenly for no reason the way that angels leave the grund they left in a kind of vortex travelling at the speed of sound. and just Started to leave just as I turned to go I saw a man who'd fallen he was lying on his back in the snow. some people walk on water some people walk on broken glass some just walk round and round Eir dreams some just keep falling down. so when you see a man who's broken pick him up and carry him and when you see a woman who's broken put her all into your arms cause we don't know where we From we don't know what we are. so when you see a man who's broken pick him up and carry him and when you see a woman who's broken put her all into your arms cause we don't know where we come f E don't know what we are. and You? you're no one and you? you're falling and you? you're travelling travelling at the speed of light. and you?
you're no one and you? you're falling and you? you're travelling travelling at t Eed of light.
