Good Morning Sunrise

Maysa

Good morning sunrise
How long has it been?
Well, it looks like
I drank myself sober again
Ever since she left me
You've been so hard to face
Good morning sunrise
Guess I'll call it a day
Last time I saw you
You let me down
I told her by morning
She and I would work things out
You took that sky
Just like she was yours to take
Well, good morning sunrise
Guess I'll call it a day
You always held her
In a better light than I
I brought her heartache
On your beauty, made her cry
They say whiskey before noon
Is such a shame
That's why the night
Has taken your place
Unlike you, her memory
Never fades away
Good morning sunrise
Guess I'll call it a day
Good morning sunrise
Guess I'll call it a day
