

Been Away Too Long

Soundgarden

You can't go home
No I swear you never can
You can walk a million miles and get nowhere
I got nowhere to go
Ever since I came back
Just filling in the lines
From the holes to the cracks
Yeah
And no one knows me
No one saves me
No one loves or hates me
I been away for too long

This place has a special kind of falling apart
Like they put the whole thing together in the dark
And no one knows where the edge of the knife is
And no one knows what intelligent life is
Yeah
And no one knows me
No one saves me
No one loves or hates me

But it's fate
I only ever really wanted a break
I've been away for too long
Though I never really wanted to stay
I've been away for too long(x3)

Kilos through keyholes
Widows through windows
Pilots through eyelets
Everyone is silent
Tankards and flagons
And snifters and flutes

On my way home
But its fate!
I only ever really wanted a break
I've been away for too long
Though I never really wanted to stay

I've been away
But it's fate!
I only ever really wanted a break
I've been away for too long
Though I never really wanted to stay
I've been away for too long
Yeah

Lyrics submitted by Vincent Weaver.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>