

In a Red Dress and Alone

Evans Blue

Let's start it over from the beginning
Let's play for keeps
So I know you can never get the best of me
Sometimes you have to and the other times you serve
Whoever saves you and brings you to your knees, my love Beauty fades when she dies
In a red dress and alone but it was the best times
And you're right to love him
And you're right to want to close the door and lock me in
Break the key and chase the blood out of my veins I'm screaming down side streets
Where the city ends and the dead ends meet
Bite your lip and smile
While many holes to fill and I'll find them all She holds them in her hands
But when she lets go she knows
It's the last time that she ever will again
And you'll find that Beauty fades when she dies
In a red dress and alone but it was the best times
And you're right to love him
And you're right to want to close the door and lock me in
Break the key and chase the blood out of my veins You're wrong
I am not alone, I was right
You were not the only one And beauty fades when she dies
In a red dress and alone but it was the best times
And you're right to love him
And you're right to want to close the door and lock me in
Break the key and chase the blood out of my veins Carve my name into concrete so that they know that I'm alive

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>