Love

Daan

It's the nature of things
To always want a new love
So we drive into the night
Pass those roadblocks
When I look into your eyes I see deep love
And I'm staring at your face times have been rough
Whenever something's so bright
Hide your new love
We both know that we lied
But still want a brand new love
And we hopelessly try
To be coy enough
Can I welcome your pride
Can I welcome starfreight
Half of most days you love her
And always read between the lines
There's this something
More hard than heavy
The heavenly crime
But there is a brand new love
Like a renegade losing memory
I can't stand it when you hold me
Hate me painfully rising too
That it's only love
Just a brand new love
Fight your love fight your love for me

When I look into your ryes I see deep love
Bet we're never choosing side run to get caught
Whenever something's so bright hide from new love
You've got something to hide
If you still want a brand new love
Every day's a wonder but a miracle week's too long
Try to separate hell from heaven
When you know that they rhyme
But there is a brand new love
Like a renegade losing memory
I can't stand it when you hold me
Hate me painfully rising too that it's only love

Just a brand new love just a brand new love
Fight the love fight the love in you
Fight the love deeper love than you

Lyrics powered by lyrics.tancode.com written by LAWRENCE, RONALD / , Y
Lyrics Â© Universal Music Publishing Group

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/