Say God

Daniel Higgs

Say god, Amen
Without regard for its meaning, say god, Prior to interpretation say god, remember to say god and say god, Say god continually without interruption, if interrupted, begin anew, and say god, say god with each breath, each footstep, each blink, each eye blink say god with out anxiety or strain say god like a river of god sayings while living in an evil time or region say god, in throws of mounting bliss say god en guard before the mirror, say god amen may the lovers pact simply be to say god, sealed, unsealed, say god, between certainty and doubt, say god when confronted by elaborate systems, say god, facing beautiful simplicities, say god let the interjection of awe and wonder remain god, repeatedly say god, yet be though not obsessed, to say god, is to sing god to sing to god, is to draw near to god to the nearness that is god
'say god' is the only increment say god now.
say god despite that which would prevent one from saying god say god and know it to be so say god until reality is consumed with god sayings say god as if pouring water from one vessel into another say god in secret say god and conceal it from ones self
say god
it is miraculous to have said god, to have attained to that orientation whereupon one must utter the word god say god and welcome the inevitable say god to sustain co mutual clairaudience throughout the christ realm saying god, say god as u know u have been born say god as a holy bible read aloud and all scriptures spring from a single sound say god in the name of the inutterable name, say god amen say god when u need the help of christ jesus to help u say god to say god is to copulate for millions of years amen this you and i of sound god sayings to say god is to continue knowing it to be so amen say god and the hearts eye hears the, amen say god and tend the true cross, planted in the centre most soil of your heart, amen say god and know that u have always been saying god parallel to all god seems or seems not amen the body is a god saying instrument amen the mind is a god saying habitat amen the soul is patient in its heart-robe the silence that frames the sound amen to say god is to walk with god in silence say god before and after having being distracted from saying god that is, frame the lack of saying with the abundance of saying, frame it in time, amen to say god is to awake and say god amen say god when saying there has never been any falsehood of any kind and ones own god saying form rises up from fundamental slime as it falls from undifferentiated chasm coalescing the most transparent verse into a mountain of singing fire administered to your larynx by armored humming birds of vibrating script, laying open the occult by closing away the revealed into every flame of song combined quavering just prior to the destruction of this present moment amen this moment that is the present covering of the true moment of total revelation amen the complete teaching instantaneous amen the spontaneous uprising of eons of devotion amen in a nearness that is a living intelligence and countered in the joy itself of continuos spiritual labor preserved along a delicate chain of enlarged and present instances, amen eternities attenuated through time amen time bodies forever forming amen to say god is there present shaping amen say god and fold this cosmic ebb into a fervently small thing say god and say the swaddling bands of the enshrouding chrysalis say god and say the interior vastnesses of the heart region exceed cosmos amen and there in the shepherds fold doth freely migrate amen and i, even you and i are perfect components of an expression of divine limitlessness amen which is to say truly, trull the larynx is a delicate nest of names amen which is to say truly, truly our animal manifestations form the elegant scaffold of a roving ind mighty temple amen which is to say truly, truly revelation is to be bestowed upon those who wish to receive it as it is, that is to become the revealed, amen be free from all that is said and say god, say god with a heart full of lust throughout the refracted rigors of piat and say this, lord god hear this my sacrifice, and except my stumblings across your luminous shadow, say god and say she who is he, and say the proximity of the kingdom the atom of holiness a regimented cloud-swarm of holly atoms, amen say the seem of symmetry, absolute and un-malleableness and the origin of blasphemy amen say god and say that which passes through itself interpenetrated, auto-pervaded, amen say the constellator girdled by trillions of lives, say god the inialation of curiosity the supremely erotic, gnasher of souls, the murmur in the stone, that which is suffered and enjoyed that which goads and coaxes, that which welcomes and exiles, amen say god a soothing disturbance, a mirrored countenance bedecked with realties, amen say the evaporation of knowledge, say god against the god sayers to say god is to love god that is to intone god though all aspects of ones being

say god.

Lyrics submitted by Daniel.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/