

Testimony

Pestilence

The gates to my subconscious, open wide
Hear and remember, the incantations I recite
Reveal the power, no longer known by man
Possess, before the ancients rule the earth once again
Beneath the seas and skies of the human minds
The abyss yawns wide before me
Uncertain what truth of lies I will find
Appear and share my wisdom for I know thee
Descend into the foul places of death
I fear for my flesh for I have seen my epitaph
The price I pay on this lonely journey
Is softened and I hope the Gods will have mercy
From a time before a time a cold voice has spoken
From a land beyond the stars I evoke thee
In exchange for wisdom, what evil have I woken
What terrible faith shall consume me?
I've seen the future, I've seen the past
I've seen the sight of whom cause the horror
I've seen my place of rest
I've traveled on spheres, I've seen things beyond imagination
The things I have learned are the most pure revelation
Obliterated are the lines of my life
My blood cries out as I make my last sacrifice
I cannot see, I cannot move, 'cause sight is failing me
Knowing that the beasts of the spaces claim my blood
My blood turns black but frightened I cannot be
The bargain is sealed, the price to pay is to rot
Descend into the foul places of death
I fear for my flesh for I have seen my epitaph
The price I pay on this lonely journey
Is softened and I hope the Gods will have mercy
From a time before a time a cold voice has spoken
From a land beyond the stars I evoke thee
In exchange for wisdom, what evil have I woken
What terrible faith shall consume me?
I've seen the future, I've seen the past
I've seen the sight of whom cause the horror
I've seen my place of rest
Testimony of the ancients

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>